

Rye Mountain Boys Pick & Sing Classic Bluegrass September 9th

"With their clean-cut look with hats and ties, the Rye Mountain Boys embody authentic bluegrass on appearance alone. Then you hear the razor-sharp harmonies, the flying fiddle, and the bounding-through-the-valley banjo and mandolin, and it's almost like the boys have taken you back in time to bluegrass's beginnings." - Peter Bothum

If you're a fan of Bill Monroe, don't miss the Rye Mountain Boys when they come down from Raleigh to play bluegrass at our next second-Friday Gathering, September 9th.

The concert gets underway at 7:30 PM in the Great Aunt Stella Center, 926 Elizabeth Avenue, in Charlotte. Doors open at 7 PM.

Charlotte Folk Society Gatherings are family-friendly and free. Donations are appreciated and essential to presenting the concert series in the Stella Center.

Free parking is available in the surface parking lot adjacent to the Stella Center. A nearby deck admits cars freely after 7 PM; those exiting after 8 PM are not charged. Refreshments follow the hour-long concert. Afterwards, visitors are welcome to join a song circle, slow old-time jam, and fast jams. The Charlotte Appalachian Dulcimer Club invites folks to try out a "loaner" dulcimer and join their session.

More than two years ago, Brian English, Hugh Moore, Cliff Hale, Zach Mondry, and Jim Collier came together to form the Rye Mountain Boys. The five musicians shared a single purpose – to bring to life the original sounds and invoke the "ancient tones" of bluegrass music, as it was conceived and performed by the genre's founding fathers.

Brian English was exposed to bluegrass at an early age. He grew up in the North Carolina Piedmont and listened to PineCone's bluegrass radio show every Sunday night for as far back as he can remember. Brian studied classical violin as a child and went on to play in orchestras and ensembles through high school and college. It wasn't until he got out of school

End-of-summer cricket songs herald the coming of shorter and cooler days. They also remind us that Charlotte's 47th Annual Festival in the Park is just a few weeks away. This free, relaxed, and family-friendly celebration of the arts takes place Friday, September 23, through Sunday, September 25, in Freedom Park. Founded in 1964 by Belk Stores Services executive Grant Whitney, Festival in the Park has been chosen as one of Sunshine Artists Magazine's 200 Best Festivals. Some 150 artisans offer their handmade products for sale – everything from instruments to pottery to oil paintings. Attendance averages more than 100,000 each year.

This marks the 18th year that the Charlotte Folk Society has hosted the Folk Stage at this venerable festival. In that time, the music, dance, and storytelling we present have become festival mainstays. We are pleased to have the Charlotte Motor Speedway as a stage sponsor this year.

The CFS Stage is the first performance venue that visitors encounter after crossing the footbridge from the East Boulevard parking lot.

and away from sheet music that he started learning to play the music he had grown up listening to. Brian kept digging deeper into the roots of popular American music and, inevitably, the bluegrass bug bit him. After a five-year stint with Old Habits, a Raleigh bluegrass/acoustic cover band, as well as many gigs and projects with other area bluegrass musicians, Brian now brings his spot-on bluegrass fiddling to both the Rye Mountain Boys and Lost County 35.

Hugh Moore has been obsessed with the banjo and bluegrass music almost since birth. Even as a youngster he was a compulsive musician. He once was nearly arrested for playing the banjo while driving on the Interstate. His hard-driving melodic banjo style has been featured on recordings of legendary bluegrass pioneers, including Kenny Baker, Bobby Osborne, Benny Martin, Vassar Clements, and Josh Graves. Hugh has also been featured on The Grand Ole Opry and has performed on the Ernest Tubb Record Shop radio program. He has produced recordings featuring Earl Scruggs, Buck Owens, Marty Stuart, Porter Wagoner, Vince Gill, and Alison Krauss. As a member of the Rye Mountain Boys, Hugh picks the banjo and sings baritone, tenor, and occasional lead vocals. Hugh's background is a perfect fit with this band patterned after the pioneering bluegrass groups.

Cliff Hale was born in West Virginia, where he spent most of his youth in the beautiful Shenandoah Valley. He has been moved by roots music since he was a kid, thanks to a sharing father who had a deep appreciation for the music and a great music collection. Growing up in a singing family, Cliff was coaxed to join the family quartet as a child and has been singing ever since. He first waded into the bluegrass scene as a performer while in graduate school at West Virginia University, where he had the good fortune to play in a band of experienced and talented musicians who shared a passion and respect for traditional bluegrass. Cliff brings his love for traditional bluegrass, strong, soulful lead vocals, and straight-up rhythm guitar to the Rye Mountain Boys.

Zack Mondry, a native Minnesotan, grew up in an old house filled with sounds emanating from country and blues LPs. Country music performances at the big state fair grandstand were an annual highlight. Zack decided he had to play bluegrass music after hearing some Johnson Mountain Boys records one day nearly twenty years ago while in college on the West Coast. His love of bluegrass music eventually brought him to North Carolina, where he has played extensively, providing fundamental bass in bluegrass, old-time, and honky tonk settings. Zack performed with the Apple Chill Cloggers in Italy and in the musical production Always Patsy Cline in Virginia. A warm, yet driving bluegrass player, Zack is known for his great timing, tone, and clarity, and completes the traditional sound of the Rye Mountain Boys.

Jim Collier was originally drawn to bluegrass as a child glued to the television watching the Foggy Mountain Boys on the Martha White Show, but did not start to play music until his high school days in Raleigh. Jim was influenced early on by the Stanley Brothers, Bill Monroe, and Raleigh's New Deal String Band. He spent many weekends at old-time fiddlers' conventions and bluegrass festivals throughout the South during the '60s and '70s. Jim has been a presence in the old-time music scene for the last thirty years – mostly as an old-time fiddler and more recently as the guitarist, mandolin player, and singer with Big Medicine, an old-time band that has performed on A Prairie Home Companion. Jim has spent most of the last ten years renewing his love for bluegrass music, studying mandolin, singing, and he can now live his dream of playing classic bluegrass with the Rye Mountain Boys.

Folklorist & Folk Singer Jeff Warner Returns For September 18th House Concert

Jeff Warner was featured in a CFS house concert and appeared in Charlotte on tour with the North Carolina Symphony's Blue Skies and Golden Sands Tour: A Journey Down the Coastal Carolinas two years ago.

The New Hampshire musician and folklorist returns to town to perform in a house concert hosted by Folk Society members Elizabeth Teagarden and Carter Mills at 7 PM on Sunday, September 18th. The Teagarden-Mills home is located in South Charlotte. Admission is $15. Reservations and pre-payment are required; space is limited. Contact Elizabeth Teagarden at teagardensound@gmail.com or 704-444-0253 to reserve a spot. Write checks to "Jeff Warner" and mail them to Elizabeth Teagarden, 15911 Prescott Hill Avenue, Charlotte, NC 28277. Guests are invited to attend a potluck at 5:30 PM. Please bring a dish to share and the beverage of your choice.

Jeff Warner is among the nation's foremost performer/interpreters of traditional music. With warmth, humor, and understated scholarship, Jeff Warner connects 21st century audiences with the music and everyday lives of 19th century Americans. He presents musical traditions ranging from the Outer Banks fishing villages and mountains of North Carolina, to the lumber camps of the Adirondack Mountains and the whaling ports of New England. "Providing more than just rich entertainment, Jeff will leave you with a deeper appreciation of the land you live in." (Caffé Lena, Saratoga, New York) His songs, rich in local history and a sense of place, bring us the latest news from the distant past. Visit www.jeffwarner.com to sample audio and video recordings from Jeff Warner's repertoire.

Jeff grew up listening to the songs and stories of his father and the traditional singers his parents met during their folksong collecting trips. He accompanied his parents on their later field trips and is the editor of his mother's book, Traditional American Folk Songs: From the Anne and Frank Warner Collection, and producer of the CD set, Her Bright Smile Haunts Me Still. Both publications make available the work of his parents, Anne and Frank Warner, who were pioneer collectors of songs from rural America. The voices heard on Her Bright Smile are those of singers born in the late 19th century and recorded by the Warners on early disk and tape recorders. Alan Lomax described the Warners' lifetime of collecting folk songs as "a continuous act of unpaid, tender devotion and a lifelong love affair with the people who remembered the ballads." It was through this "love affair" that they were able to collect some of the most beautiful and important traditional American music ever recorded.

Jeff has performed widely, from large festivals in the United Kingdom, to clubs, festivals, and schools across America. He accompanies his songs on concertina, banjo, guitar, and several "pocket" instruments, such as bones, spoons, and jaw harp. And, "he inhabits a song in a way which few singers can do." (Royal Oak Folk Club, Lewes, United Kingdom).

He has toured nationally for the Smithsonian Institution, taught at Pinewoods, Ashokan, and the Swannanoa Gathering summer music programs and recorded for Flying Fish/Rounder, National Geographic, and other labels. His 1995 recording, Two Little Boys, received a Parents' Choice Award.

Jeff is past president of the Country Dance and Song Society, a founding officer of the Folk Alliance, a producer of the Portsmouth Maritime Folk Festival, and a graduate of Duke University.

Not too many years ago, elementary school children learned to sing traditional American folk songs as part of their everyday academic experience. In this way, they learned about our country's history, while sharing the joy of singing with others. Jeff Warner will take you and your family back to that time. Please join us for a special evening, rich in music, history, and community.

Folk Society Seeking New Treasurer

Our current Treasurer, John Goldsbury, will be stepping down at year's end. Here's a bit of job description:

Our books are kept with Quickbooks, so familiarity with that software is needed. The main tasks for our Treasurer are:

1. Accounting for income and expenses monthly. The main activities to account for are monthly Gathering concerts and ongoing memberships.
2. Depositing monies as needed; maintaining our bank accounts (e. g., monthly reconciliation); writing checks as needed.
3. Filing tax returns: quarterly sales tax payments; semi-annual sales tax refunds; annual federal income tax return.
4. Creating monthly reports for the CFS Board.

Any Folk Society member interested in becoming Treasurer should contact President Dennis Frost at 704-532-8846 or dcmfrost@mindspring.com.

9th Annual Gospel Shout Concert September 13th

The Levine Museum of the New South and Charlotte Center City Partners present Gospel Shout! this year at 7:30 PM on Tuesday, September 13th, at the "Mother House" of the United House of Prayer, 2321 Beatties Ford Road. The free concert of high-energy religious "roots music," first offered as a gift to the community in 2003, features the trombone "shout band" tradition found only in the United House of Prayer.

Listeners can arrive early and purchase a soul food dinner in the church cafeteria, opening shortly before 6 PM. At 7:30, the trombones of the Bailey Clouds of Heaven kick in – as heard on Smithsonian Folkways Records. Next come the guitars, tambourines, and voices of the Bailey String Band, followed by the Bailey Golden Angels a capella choir. The evening rounds out with the Clouds of Heaven and special guests, the Bailey Faith Band, trading "shout band" instrumentals.

For information, call 704-333-1887, extension 228.

Database Maintenance Volunteer Needed

Our CFS database is our source for sending out emails and the monthly newsletter. It is an important resource for us. We will need a new data entry person at year's end.

The steps involved in this task can be easily taught; it's simply a matter of logging onto our database and entering/editing data. Each membership (new and renewals) needs to be entered/updated. There are occasional corrections/updates to data. The flow varies throughout the year but peaks with annual membership renewals in December and January. Any Folk Society member interested in volunteering is invited to contact President Dennis Frost at 704-532-8846 or dcmfrost@mindspring.com.

Clogging Classes September 7th- October 26th

Allen Cooke, founder and director of the Skyline Cloggers, is teaching eight weeks of clogging classes on Wednesdays, September 7th through October 26th. Both Allen Cooke and the Skyline Cloggers were state champions in North Carolina in the late '70s and early '80s. (Learn more about the Skyline Cloggers at www.youtube.com/watch?v=GgBaRGt3tyE)

Beginners' classes will meet for an hour at 7 PM. Intermediate students' classes will meet for 30 minutes at 8 PM. Both will meet in Johnston Hall at Amity Presbyterian Church, 2831 North Sharon Amity Road, in east Charlotte (www.amitypc.org). The fee for the Beginners' Class is $25; the fee for the Intermediate Class is $15. Classes are appropriate for both adults and children (ages 7 years and up). To register, contact Allen Cooke at 704-366-3334 or warehambr@aol.com. Visit <http://cookescloddancing.blogspot.com>.

Clogging, a popular dance enjoyed by audiences throughout the United States and abroad, originated in North Carolina. These classes are devoted to preserving traditional mountain-style clog dancing as it was done in North Carolina years ago. In addition to teaching steps, the classes will include some basic figures, which the Intermediate Class can participate in. This is not a class in percussive buck dance or flatfooting.

CFS Gathering Old-Time Slow Jam

By Ed Gebauer

Join us every month after the Gathering concert to play some old-time fiddle tunes at the CFS Slow Jam. Led by fiddler Ed Gebauer, this group meets up on the third floor in the Stella Center Conference Room. Here, beginner players are introduced to old-time tunes at a gentle pace. This is the place to start learning to jam with other players after learning those first few chords on your guitar or banjo, or your first tune on your lead instrument. Please check out the Slow Jam web page at www.folksociety.org/slowjam.shtml to see the tunes we'll be playing. At the next Gathering on September 9th, we'll be playing the tunes in the key of A! Hope to see you there!

Charlotte Appalachian Dulcimer Club September 9th

The Charlotte Appalachian Dulcimer Club meets after every CFS Gathering with a beginner-friendly jam. Loaner instruments are available if you want to try your hand. The Club also has a weekly Friday morning Dulcimer Jam in the Arboretum area if you're interested. So, start the year off right. Bring your dulcimer to the September 9th Gathering and stop by the Dulcimer Jam room. We'll get you tuned up and playing your dulcimer in no time. For more information, contact Mark Willingham at 980-254-8059.

September CFS Celtic Music Sessions

By Ed Gebauer

Once or twice a month, the CFS Celtic Music Session meets in members' homes to play music from the various Celtic traditions. All acoustic instruments are welcome, though this session does tend towards the intermediate level. To learn where and when the next session will be, join our mailing list by emailing John Goldsbury at flatpick_guitar@yahoo.com. Our sessions for this month will be a slow session on Saturday, September 10th, in east Charlotte and a regular session on Sunday, September 18th, in Cornelius.

Check out www.folksociety.org/celticsession.shtml to grab our tune list and learn how you can join this great experience!

Slow Celtic Session September 10th

By Ed Gebauer

The Slow Celtic Session at the Charlotte Folk Society is an offshoot of the Celtic Session. This informal gathering of local musicians will focus on Celtic tunes played in the session style. The goal of the Slow Celtic Session is to allow folks to ease into the Celtic tunes with two key constraints: (i) we'll play slower than at the regular Session; and (ii) we'll have a shorter list of tunes so that you can know what will be played.

"Should I attend?" Yep, if . . .

- you're a beginner who wants to learn to play Celtic tunes (though we assume you know how to play your instrument),
- you're not a beginner, but you're new to Celtic tunes and want to ease in,
- you're not a beginner, but you want a slow pace to work on some techniques,
- you're conversant in one instrument, but want to dabble in another.

Check out the Celtic Slow Session webpage at: www.folksociety.org/slowcelticsession.shtml for more information The next Slow Session will be held in the afternoon on Saturday, September 10th, in east Charlotte. Write John Goldsbury at flatpick_guitar@yahoo.com for directions and any questions.

September 17th Hammered Dulcimer Workshop

By Susan Sherlock

I am holding an instructional workshop for hammered dulcimer players on Saturday, September 17th, at Woody's Recording Studio, 151 East White Street, Rock Hill, South Carolina 29730. The workshop begins at 9 AM and ends at 3 PM, with a break for lunch. The full day's tuition is $75; the morning only is $50.

Participants should be at the advanced beginner to intermediate level of playing. You should be able to tune your instrument, know basic scales in the keys of D, G, C, and be able to play at least the basic (single note) melody of several tunes by ear or from written music. If you can do more, you'll still get plenty of new information. Bring a hammered dulcimer, stand, tuning wrench, and hammers.

Topics will include chordal embellishments and arranging, including rhythmic ideas, easy chord substitutions, and, by request, at least one Christmas tune. Written music will be provided, but the emphasis will be on listening and playing by ear.

Pre-register at www.SusanSherlock.com or contact me at SusanSherlock@mac.com to register off line. I need a minimum of six participants in order to hold the workshop.

Final Notes

Marshall Grant, native of Bessemer City, North Carolina and original upright bass player with Johnny Cash, died August 7th in Hernando, Mississippi at the age of 83. Grant and Cash met in Memphis, where, with Luther Perkins, he backed up Cash as the Tennessee Two and helped to create their trademark "boom chicka-boom" sound. He spent 26 years with Cash as a band member and road manager and later managed The Statler Brothers until he retired in 2002. To learn more about Marshall Grant, read an online article in the Charlotte Observer by Joe DePriest. Visit www.charlotteobserver.com and search on "Marshall Grant."

The Charlotte Folk Society is very excited to be a part of this celebration and to have the opportunity to showcase our organization to the Charlotte community. We hope that all of you will be able to join us and enjoy the gift of this extraordinary day. Mark your calendars now for October 29th!

Welcome To New Folk Society Members

We extend a warm welcome to our eleven new members this month and thank them for choosing to support the Charlotte Folk Society. The names of new members appear in bold below.

The Charlotte Folk Society is a tax-exempt 501(c)(3) non-profit organization and your donations are deductible as charitable contributions under applicable tax law.

We deeply appreciate donations above your basic membership and employer matches, as they enable us to continue to meet our mission and to offer scholarships to the Swannanoa Gathering Folk Arts Workshops. Our Gathering series is supported by memberships, donations, and grants. All three are essential to our holding monthly Gatherings in the Great Aunt Stella Center.

Thanks to The Violin Shoppe For Donating Eastman Mandolin

Thanks to the generosity of Glen Alexander and David McGuirt, proprietors of The Violin Shoppe, Inc., Charlotte Folk Society will raise funds through an instrument raffle again this year. We are very appreciative of Glen and David's donation of an Eastman MD-305 A-Style Mandolin (F hole). The mandolin comes complete with an Eastman deluxe gig bag and retails for $500.

This instrument is from Eastman's newest series of mandolins. They feature all-wood construction with a beautiful, classic satin lacquer finish that gives them a vintage look and a full body sound. Incredible sound and great playability make the 300 series hard to beat.

The Eastman MD-305 features a hand-carved solid spruce top and hand-carved solid maple back and sides. The top is supported with parallel bracing and is accented with ivoroid binding. A 12" radiused rosewood fretboard inlaid with white mother-of-pearl, an adjustable fitted ebony bridge, chrome hardware and tuning machines, a 1-3/32" bone nut, and D'Addario 174 strings make this a very desirable instrument.

The Violin Shoppe is located at 2112 East Seventh Street. Folk Society members receive a ten percent discount. Be sure to take your CFS member card when shopping. For detailed information about instruments, accessories, and services offered, visit www.theviolinshoppe.net.

Check out their new line of acoustic and electric instruments by Yamaha, as well as their fine Eastman guitars and mandolins. The Violin Shoppe offers traditional and bluegrass fiddle lessons, as well as classical violin lessons, including the Suzuki Method. Instruction for guitar, banjo, mandolin, Dobro, bass, and bodhran is also available. Award-winning musicians/instructors, Glen Alexander and Jon Singleton, make The Violin Shoppe a destination for traditional and bluegrass students.

Tickets cost $2 each or $10 for six. The mandolin will be on display and raffle tickets will be available to purchase at Festival in the Park and upcoming Gatherings. For your convenience, buy tickets online at www.folksociety.org.

Drawing of the winning ticket will take place during the Folk Society's Annual Holiday Potluck, tentatively scheduled for Sunday, December 11th, at Dilworth United Methodist Church, 605 East Boulevard, in Charlotte. Ticket holders need not be present to win. For tax compliance reasons, the raffle winner must fill out a W-9 form before receiving the instrument. The winner is responsible for all resulting income taxes, if any.

Guitar & Ukulele Stylist Del Rey In House Concert October 13th

Folk Society members Elizabeth Teagarden and Carter Mills are hosting a concert featuring Seattle based acoustic musician Del Rey at their home (15911 Prescott Hill Avenue in Charlotte) at 7:30 PM on Thursday, October 13th.

Del started playing classical guitar when she was four. As a teenager, she met bluesman Sam Chatmon, who inspired her to become a blues queen. Her guitar playing combines country blues, stride piano, classic jazz, and hillbilly boogie through the sensibility of a self-taught trailer-park aesthete. Her live show is full of complex guitar grooves and sly humor.

Del Rey plays concerts worldwide and also presents a concert/lecture on women musicians called Women in American Music. She collaborates and tours frequently with Austin guitarist Steve James and she plays ukulele with The Yes Yes Boys. Since 2004 she has been collaborating with Maria Muldaur on tributes to Sister Rosetta Tharpe and Johnny Cash, and she is featured on Ms. Muldaur's CD, Sweet Lovin' Old Soul. Del Rey also writes about music for various publications, including Acoustic Guitar Magazine. She has taught at the Swannanoa Gathering and numerous other guitar camps, festivals, and workshops.

Del Rey has recorded five solo albums, an album with the Yes Yes Boys, two albums with Steve James, and two with Del Rey and the Blues Gators. Hen Party, released in 2010, features Del Rey with singer Suzy Thompson on fiddle and guitar. (www.hobemianrecords.com).

Del Rey is one of the greatest modern players of the metal-bodied resonator guitar. - Acoustic Guitar Magazine, 2007

Bored with the boys and their bottlenecks and bell brass blues guitars? Then check out Del Rey: she plays acoustic blues, ragtime, sings, tells good stories, plays a metal-bodied resonator guitar, dresses imaginatively, and is not a boy. -

Folk Roots (UK)

"If you like your blues warm, wise, witty, and well-played, give Del Rey a listen." -

Dirty Linen

To sample Del's music, check out these links: http://web.me.com/rmitlyng1/Del_Rey/Straw_Broom_Boogie.html

www.hobemianrecords.com/FatbackLouisiana.mp3

Tickets are $20 per person, with advance reservation and payment required to reserve your seat. To make a reservation, contact Elizabeth Teagarden at teagarden-sound@gmail.com or 704-444-0253. Write checks to "Del Rey" and mail them to Elizabeth Teagarden, 15911 Prescott Hill Avenue, Charlotte, NC 28277. Guests are invited to bring snacks and the beverage of their choice.

Showing Of Daniel Coston Photos

By Wanda Hubicki

You may have wondered when you attend concerts in the Stella Center, who the tall photographer is that you see crouching in the aisles to capture photos of performing musicians. You'll likely see him snapping shots in any other music venue you frequent in town, too. His name is Daniel Coston and he has a well deserved reputation for taking arresting pictures of the musicians he and we love. He may be best known for the photos he took of Johnny Cash during his last public concert at the Carter Fold. After Cash's death, Time magazine published a photo of Johnny Cash by Daniel Coston.

I encourage you, any time you have the opportunity to see an exhibit of Daniel Coston's photos, to do so.

Daniel Coston is debuting a new show of photos at Amplified Gallery, 224 East Martin Street, in Raleigh on the evening of Friday, October 7th (www.amplifiedgallery.com). Entitled From The Song, To The Show, this collection highlights the creative process of musicians, from songwriting, to recording, rehearsing, and playing live. The show will feature both new and never-before-exhibited photos from Daniel's collection. The show will be up throughout the month of October. Daniel invites you to come by and say "hello" on October 7th. For more details, visit www.danielcostonphotography.com.

Charlotte Folk Society Presents Folk Heritage Award to Si Kahn

At last month's Gathering on August 12th, Si Kahn talked to the audience about his family, work, and songs, and performed quite a few songs from his extensive original repertoire, in spite of his battling an upper respiratory infection. Before he started to perform, Harry Taylor surprised him by presenting him with a Folk Heritage Award on behalf of the Charlotte Folk Society.

The wording on the plaque read:

CHARLOTTE FOLK SOCIETY
FOLK HERITAGE AWARD

Presented To

SI KAHN

Singer and song-maker

Grassroots organizer

Giving voice to the voiceless

Claiming dignity, justice, and hope.

Carrying on from

Woodie Guthrie & Pete Seeger –

Thank you for bringing fresh inspiration

To the tradition of singing for a better world.

August 2011

Si Kahn's songs of family, community, work, and freedom are known around the world. They have been translated into a half-dozen languages and recorded by more than 100 artists, including Hazel Dickens, Kathy Mattea, John McCutcheon, the Red Clay Ramblers, Robin and Linda Williams, Laurie Lewis, Peggy Seeger, Cathy Fink & Marcy Marxer, the Dry Branch Fire Squad, and Planxty. Such songs as Aragon Mill (aka Belfast Mill, Oregon Mill, Douglas Mill, Weave and Spin), Gone Gonna Rose Again, Go To Work on Mon- day, and Rubber Blubber Whale have become a part of the oral tradition, and are sung in folk clubs and living rooms in the United States and abroad.

Many of Si's songs arose from his 45 years of working as a civil rights,

labor, and community organizer here in the South. Last year, Si retired after thirty years as founder and executive director of Grassroots Leadership. During the many years of his organizing "day job," proceeds from his concerts and recording sales went not to him, but to Grassroots Leadership. Si's music and his work on behalf of the voiceless and oppressed are inextricably linked. "Si Kahn is an organizer, and an activist. He's also a poet, a songwriter, a historian, a documentarian in song. He's a stark realist, and simultaneously, an unflinching optimist. The ten-

them – and ultimately, ourselves." – Kathy Mattea

Si's recording projects number sixteen: fourteen albums of original songs; a CD of original songs for children, Good Times and Bedtimes; and a collection of traditional labor, civil right, and women's songs recorded with Pete Seeger and Jane Sapp, Carry It On.

In February this year, the annual Folk Alliance Conference (the international association representing the folk music community) honored Si with the Triple Crown of folk music – for having the #1 CD (Courage), the #1 song (Peace Will Rise), and for being the #1 folk artist of the year, based on statistics compiled by the Folk DJ Chart for airplay by DJs around the world. Courage was released in May 2010 by Strictly Country Records in the Netherlands and features production and instrumentation by legendary Swiss banjo player Jens Kruger, with liner notes and harmony singing by Grammy-winning country artist Kathy Mattea.

We have been fortunate to have had Si Kahn living among us in Charlotte. For much of the Folk Society's almost thirty years, Si has been a member and a generous supporter of the organization, donating his performances, as he did last month, to benefit CFS. In so many ways, he is a gift to our community – through his songwriting, his performance, his organizing, and his supporting our grassroots non-profit. We know that Si is revered and beloved the world over, but we regard him as one of our own. Thank you, Si, for all you have shared in the past thirty years. We look forward to sharing thirty more!

Bryan Bowers & Riley Baugus House Concert October 20th

By Carole Outwater

Autoharp master and singer-songwriter Bryan Bowers and old-time musician and renowned banjo player Riley Baugus will perform at a house concert Thursday, October 20th, at 7 PM in the home of Carole and Fisk Outwater, 1319 Greylyn Drive, Charlotte, NC 28226.

Each of these fine musicians has a dazzling record of work that comes to mind when we hear their names. A visit to their websites confirms this. Bryan, from “up in the woods outside” Seattle, and Riley, from “near” Winston Salem, enjoy playing together whenever their paths cross.

This is one of those times and I promise you that Bryan Bowers and Riley Baugus are magic together!

Bryan has been a leading figure in the traditional music circuit for nearly forty years. From his earliest beginnings of “call and response” songs in the fields of Virginia, right through his years as a street singer in Seattle, Bryan’s direction never wavered. He reminds himself often how fortunate he is to live his dream as a musician.

Bryan’s six-foot-four-inch frame fills a room with a powerful stage presence and his magnetic personality enchants with emotionally packed songs like When I Go and Bristlecone Pine. He can spin tales that find you doubled over with laughter, then five minutes later you’re wiping tears away as he sings the nostalgic Old Lovers. Words such as “charismatic performer,” “eloquent,” “wild and zany,” and “redefines the autoharp” come to mind after a concert.

Mention Riley Baugus and you’ll hear phrases like “old-time music historian,” “authentic banjo player,” “rawboned singing voice,” “charming performer,” and “accomplished teacher,” followed by a warm smile of affection and respect for this native North Carolinian. It’s been said that Riley Baugus represents the best of old-time American banjo and song and that his powerful singing voice and musicianship place him squarely in the next generation of the quality American roots tradition.

Just like Bryan, Riley comes to music from the ground up. Mountain Stage host Larry Groce says it well: “Riley learned traditional music starting in the rural churches and studying alongside the ‘characters’ in his community.” Tommy Jarrell and Doc Watson were a couple of them. The list of characters in his world today reads like an index of every musician around!

Billboard Magazine heralds Riley’s recording Long Steel Rail as “quintessential American old-time music.” They say his instrumental component is impeccable and his vocals sound like they’ve been echoing through the Appalachian Mountains for about 150 years. No wonder he’s sought out for concerts, workshops, and such projects as the film Cold Mountain, Willie Nelson’s recent Country Music recording, and Grammy-winning album Raising Sand by Alison Krauss and Robert Plant.

Bryan’s latest recording, Bristlecone Pine, is hailed as his landmark recording among a long string of highly acclaimed ones that span several decades. Long-time friends including Ron Wall,

Tim O’Brien, Sam Bush, Mark Howard, Alan O’Bryant, Pat Enright, Dennis Crouch, and Stuart Duncan offered their musical support for this project. A feature story on Bryan in the Feb/March 2007 issue of Dirty Linen stated, “Like the venerable pine of the title track, autoharp virtuoso Bryan Bowers’ vocal style and instrumental prowess have grown in depth and genius over the decades...to listen to this recording is to experience all the colors and emotions of a lifetime. Truly Bowers’ finest work to date...”

Both these fine musicians bring an evening that will draw you right into the soul of music. Make your reservations early as we have limited seating. Email coutwater@carolina.rr.com or call Fisk or Carole Outwater 704-365-2745 for details. We “pass the hat” to offer our appreciation to the musicians. A suggested amount for individuals attending is $15, but don’t let that amount limit your generosity and appreciation to our artists. Light refreshments will be served during intermission.

5th Annual Hoppin' John Old-Time & Bluegrass Fiddlers Convention September 15-17, 2011

By Chris Sekerak

I want to remind the Charlotte traditional music community that a relatively new camping and music experience is available within a short drive from Charlotte. A Fiddlers Grove-like festival still in its infancy is the 5th Annual Hoppin' John Festival Old-Time and Bluegrass Fiddler's Convention, September 15-17, 2011, at beautiful Shakori Hills, in Silk Hope, North Carolina.

The shortened days of Indian Summer bring a different outdoor camping experience: cooler nights, red-hued sunsets, cicadas, and persimmon trees with ripened fruit. In the rolling rural farmland of Chatham County (near Chapel Hill and Pittsboro), there is the crossroads town of Silk Hope. Here, along a very rural road, is the Shakori Hills farm. With its spacious (72 acres) wooded and open field camping sites, old barns, a stage, and friendly folk to welcome, you feel like a special guest.

These are the early years of what will one day be a very popular festival. It is a wonderful camping and picking experience. The music and the musicianship are both very good. There is $3800 in prize money to be given away to winners of Old-Time & Bluegrass band, instrument, folk song, and dance contests.

A special feature this year will be the Green Grass Cloggers 40th Anniversary Reunion. There will be a square dance Thursday night and dances Friday and Saturday nights in an open-air dance pavilion, with music provided by The Freight Hoppers. As always, cooks will compete for the Golden Skillet designating one of them as the most talented at preparing Hoppin' John. Activities include a cake walk and special events for kids.

The stage is well managed. Good coffee is always available at the Java Barn and the food vendors provide enjoyable fare at reasonable cost.

It's been fun getting to know the many good musicians who are from the Raleigh, Durham, Chapel Hill Triad. I enjoyed the nighttime bonfires and informal jamming the most.

Thinking of coming up to Silk Hope? Camping costs $10 per night; $15 per night for RVs. There are plenty of well maintained port-a-lets and drinking water is provided throughout campgrounds.

October 21st House Concert Features Solas Musicians

Ray Owens and Sally Higgins are hosting a concert of traditional Irish music featuring Winifred Horan and Mick McAuley at their home (531 Manning Drive in Charlotte) at 7:30 PM on Friday, October 21st, 2011. Tickets are $15 per person, with advance reservation and payment required to reserve your seat. To make a reservation, contact Ray Owens at ray.owens@klgates.com_ or 704-521-6177 or 704-331-7496. Guests are invited to bring snacks and their beverage of choice.

Both long-time members of the internationally acclaimed Irish-American band Solas, Horan and McAuley will be performing material from their forthcoming second duet album which they are currently recording and is due for release in early 2012.

"We have been playing together for years as part of Solas and finished recording our eleventh band album earlier this year. But, following the amazing reaction to our first duet album, Serenade, we have been looking forward to, and working towards, following it up with a second album for some time now," say Horan and McAuley. (Serenade was voted into the Irish Times' Top Five Recommended Irish albums the year it was released and received widespread critical acclaim.) "Some time off the road from the band in the later part of this year finally allows us to do that. While there are original instrumental compositions featured, we are also recording a few older traditional tunes and songs and more obscure tunes from Cape Breton, America, French-Canada, and Ireland."

Born and raised in New York by Irish parents, Winifred began playing music at an early age. Her first instrument was piano, which she learned from her father who was himself an accomplished pianist and jazz trumpeter. His love for classical, jazz and traditional

Winifred Horan and Mick McAuley

Irish music was a great influence on Winifred and ultimately laid out a colorful and eclectic musical direction. She began fiddle and Irish dance lessons in the then bustling Irish scene in New York in the 1970s. Her fiddle teacher was the late Maureen Glynn and her dancing teacher was the great Donald Golden. Throughout these years she participated and competed in many fleadh and competitions in the U.S. and Ireland, winning the U.S. National Dance Championships a record nine years in a row.

At this time, she was also pursuing a path in classical music and ultimately won a scholarship to attend Mannes College of Music in Manhattan, as a teenager, for violin. She then went on to earn a degree in Music from the prestigious New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. This combination of both classical and traditional backgrounds helps to define the style that is so identifiable and associated with Winifred's playing. In demand as a dancer, fiddle player, and studio musician, she has worked with many of the finest musicians on the Irish music scene: Cherish the Ladies, Sharon Shannon, Declan O'Rourke, Belinda Carlisle, Pierce Turner, Richard Shindell, Liz Carroll, and many more.

Her meeting and ultimate collaboration with Seamus Egan saw the start of the Irish-American band Solas which has since enjoyed worldwide success. Solas has been warmly received for its live performances, timeless recordings and extraordinary musicianship.

Mick McAuley, from Kilkenny, was born into the well-known musical McAuley family and has also been playing Irish music from a very early age. In fact, his first public performance was when he was featured on tin whistle by the late great Irish tenor, Frank Patterson, at the tender age of five. Mick took up accordion at the age of nine and has since become one of the leading exponents on this instrument in Ireland. During his teenage years he mastered several other instruments and triumphed in various competitions. By his late teens he had toured extensively throughout Europe at concerts and various cultural festivals as part of the family group, other ensembles, and as a soloist.

Mick moved to London in 1991 and recorded and toured regularly with the London based Ron Kavana Alias band and was part of The Bucks with Ron, Terry Woods and piper Paddy Keenan. Returning home for a while in 1994, Mick recorded and toured with Niamh
