

National Flatpick Guitar Champ Steve Kaufman September 10th

On Friday, September 10th, the Charlotte Folk Society presents Steve Kaufman, the only three-time winner of the National Flatpicking Guitar Championships. The hour-long concert gets underway at 7:30 PM in the Great Aunt Stella Center at 926 Elizabeth Avenue in downtown Charlotte. Doors open at 7 PM. There aren't too many (or maybe any!) genres that Steve can't bring to life with a flatpick. Expect to hear bluegrass, Celtic, country, old-time, maybe some Texas Swing, traditional Appalachian, soulful ballads, waltzes, funny songs, and fast pickin'. Sorry; that might be all we can fit into an hour! We think you'll agree with Doc Watson's opinion: "Steve Kaufman is great; the boy can pick. He knows what good music is."

Steve Kaufman

Folk Society Gatherings are family-friendly, open to the public, and free. Donations, which support the series in part, are greatly appreciated. After the concert, visitors enjoy refreshments, a song circle, and slow, fast, and Celtic jams. Folks are also invited to join the Charlotte Appalachian Dulcimer Club session; visitors may borrow an instrument to play. All are welcomed.

Free surface parking is available adjacent to the Stella Center. The arm of the nearby parking deck goes up for the weekend at 7 PM. Pick up a ticket on the way into the parking deck, but you will not have to pay on the way out if you leave after 8 PM.

Steve Kaufman was born into a musical family in 1957. His father was a jazz piano player and his mother was a classically trained pianist. Music was always around. At age four, Steve started plinking at the piano and did so for several years. He then moved on to the electric guitar at age ten for a few years and put it away. Next came the cello in 5th grade for a few years. After this, Steve picked up the acoustic guitar and blazed right through a "Folk Guitar" method book. When finished, he thought, "If this is as hard as it gets, it's not for me." Then his younger brother, Will, started playing the banjo and his instructor told him he needed a rhythm guitar player to help with his timing. So Steve picked up his guitar again and got into the bluegrass rhythm. One day Will

End-of-summer cricket songs herald the coming of shorter and cooler days. They also remind us that Charlotte's 46th Annual Festival in the Park is just a few weeks away. This free, relaxed, and family-friendly celebration of the arts takes place Thursday, September 23, through Sunday, September 26, in Freedom Park. Founded in 1964 by Belk Stores Services executive Grant Whitney, Festival in the Park has been chosen as one of Sunshine Artists Magazine's 200 Best Festivals. Some 150 artisans offer their handmade products for sale – everything from instruments to pottery to oil paintings. Attendance averages more than 100,000 each year.

For seventeen consecutive years, the Charlotte Folk Society has hosted the Folk Stage at this venerable festival. In that time, the music, dance, and storytelling we present have become mainstays of the four-day event. The CFS Stage is the first performance venue that visitors encounter after crossing the footbridge from the East Boulevard parking lot. We offer first-rate entertainment and the convenience of being in the midst of the food vendors. Of course, we hope that visitors will also drop by our Information Table to pick up newsletters, brought home a Flatt and Scruggs LP, which featured Doc Watson on guitar, and Steve was hooked on flatpicking.

Steve practiced hard with his newly found love of music, sometimes up to eight hours a day. At age eighteen he entered the National Flatpicking Championships in Winfield, Kansas, and made the Top Ten. In 1977, Steve took second place to Mark O'Connor, and in 1978, at twenty-one, he returned to win the championship. After being barred for five years he returned in the sixth year to win the 1984 Championships. (Winfield bars the winner for five years and s/he can come back in the sixth year, but in 1986 they decided to open up the contest to everyone.) Steve returned to become the winner and the first and only three-time winner, as of this writing, of the National Flatpicking Championships. Sample Steve's flatpicking at www.folksociety.org. "Kaufman's great gift is the remarkable clarity of his guitar playing . . ." - Bluegrass Unlimited

Steve continues to work hard in the world of music. He began producing books and videos in 1989, after teaching private lessons for close to twenty years. His catalog of instructional materials is close to 75 items. His listening CDs and videos number over fourteen. Steve began touring the world, conducting seminars, workshops, clinics, and concerts in 1990 and after five years, he and his wife, Donna, began "Steve Kaufman's Flatpicking Camp." Every other year they have added more camps to their agenda and now, under the title "Steve Kaufman's Acoustic Kamps," they host a Fingerpicking Kamp, Old Time Banjo, Bluegrass Banjo, and Mandolin Kamp. Their camps have grown into the largest of their kind in the world, with students traveling from around the world to Maryville, Tennessee. In 2002 and 2004, Steve Kaufman received the Gold Award from a reader's poll in Acoustic Guitar Magazine for running the "Best Workshops, Seminars and Camps." Since 1990, Steve has developed the reputation of being the "World's Guitar Instructor." Visit Steve's website at www.flatpik.com.

Steve stays busy being a husband and father, running his Kamps, touring, writing books, and recording videos and CDs, as well as owning and operating The Palace Theater, downtown Maryville's premier acoustic music venue and espresso bar.

Charlotte Folk Society Gatherings are made possible, in part, with funding from the Arts & Science Council and the North Carolina Arts Council, an agency of the Department of Cultural Resources, and the National Endowment for the Arts, which believes that a great nation deserves great art.

talk with volunteers, and buy tickets for raffle instruments.

In showcasing the roots and branches of regional music and the traditions of storytelling and dance, we present performers of old-time, bluegrass, country, Celtic, gospel, and Americana music, as well as writers and singers of contemporary folk songs. We'll share the dance traditions of Charlotte's newcomers, as well as its settlers. See the detailed schedule of performances on page 4 of this newsletter. Check www.folksociety.org for updates.

A special feature, Kids' Day, Friday, from 10 AM to 1 PM, showcases storytellers and musicians that will engage young audience members. As is our custom, talented young Folk Society musicians will be featured throughout the weekend.

Festival Volunteers Needed!

By Wanda Hubicki

I hope you would agree with me that CFS has a terrific and varied lineup for the Folk Stage this year. We can offer this gift to the Charlotte community because of all the musicians who are generously volunteering their time and talents.

Just as important and necessary are the volunteers who set up and break down our site and those who represent CFS to visitors at our Information Table.

So far, only eight individuals have responded to last week's emailed request for volunteers to work during the Festival. Please, when you come to the September Gathering or receive another email, take time to sign up for a shift. Festival in the Park is an opportunity to acquaint many more people with the music we value and with our organization. In order to be successful, we need your support. We can't do it without you!

Steve Kaufman Mandolin & Flatpicking Workshops September 11th

Steve Kaufman, well-known instructor and the only three-time winner of the National Flatpicking Championships in Winfield, Kansas, will be performing at the Charlotte Folk Society's September 10th Gathering. CFS and The Violin Shoppe are hosting workshops with Steve Kaufman on Saturday, September 11th, at Myers Park Baptist Church, 1900 Queens Road, in Charlotte, NC. Steve has more than 100 award-winning instructional books, CDs, and DVDs to his credit, as well as 19 CD recordings. Space is limited; advance registration and payment are required. No video recording of the workshops allowed. Reserve your place online at www.folksociety.org. Learn more about Steve Kaufman at www.flatpik.com.

Steve will teach the Beginner/Intermediate Level Mandolin Workshop from 10:30 AM-1:30 PM. The cost is $45. Bring a mandolin, voice recorder, and lots of questions. Steve will go over back-up skills, right- and left-hand techniques, new songs, chords, and more.

Steve will teach the Flatpicking Guitar Workshop, for all proficiency levels, from 2:30 PM to 5:30 PM. The cost is $45. Bring a guitar, voice recorder, and lots of questions.

Ice Cream Social (Part II) Televised September 10th

The Cable TV Access 21 program Fresh Squeezed Tunes will air "Part Two" of our July 11th Old Time Music Jam & Ice Cream Social at 10:30 PM on Friday, September 10th. The half-hour show highlights jams, storytellers, clogging, and ice cream scoopers. Many thanks to CFS members Brian Blaney, creator and producer of Fresh Squeezed Tunes, and Dan Honeycutt, the show's director and editor, for showcasing this popular community event. Any one who caught the first episode in August and saw Karen Singleton's interviews with musicians would surely agree that she's a natural in front of the camera. The program airs the same evening as our August Gathering, so we recommend you set your DVRs to record it!

7th Annual Gospel Shout Concert September 14th

It's that time again - time for the high-energy gospel music program at the "Mother House" of the United House of Prayer, 2321 Beaties Ford Road. Since 2003, Levine Museum of the New South and Charlotte Center City Partners have presented this annual concert featuring the trombone "shout band" tradition found only in the United House of Prayer.

Listeners can arrive early and purchase a soul food dinner in the church cafeteria, opening shortly before 6 PM. Soon after seven o'clock, the trombones of the Bailey Clouds of Heaven kick in - as heard on Smithsonian Folkways Records. Next come the guitars, tambourines, and voices of the Bailey String Band, followed by the Bailey Golden Angels a cappella choir. The evening rounds out with the Clouds of Heaven and special guests, the Bailey Faith Band, trading "shout band" instrumentals.

The music program is free to attend. For information, call 704-333-1887, extension 228, or email tom@historysouth.org.

CFS Old-Time Acoustic Jam September 12

Monthly Charlotte Folk Society Old-Time Acoustic Jams take place on second Sundays, 2 PM to 4 PM, in the Asbury Care Center Living Room at Aldersgate, 3800 Shamrock Drive (between Eastway Drive and Sharon Amity Road) in east Charlotte. The next Jam will be on Sunday, September 12th. Jams are free and open to all musicians and listeners. If you have questions, please contact Jam Coordinator Tom Kelleher at 704-366-9441.

Directions:

Traveling from Eastway Drive, make a right turn from Shamrock Drive into Aldersgate at the traffic light at Tipperary Place. Stop at the Guard Gate and say that you're going to the Asbury Care Center to the Folk Society jam session. The guard will direct you to the correct building and the receptionist in the Asbury Care Center will direct you to the Living Room.

Celtic Trader Ceilidhs Return This Month

By John Trexler

Join us for a Celtic Ceilidh (music session) on alternate Wednesdays, starting September 1st, at Molly MacPherson's Scottish Pub and Grill (North Church and West 5th Streets) in downtown Charlotte (www.MacPhersonsPub.com). Some street parking is available near by (free at night). Nearby parking garages such as the Dunhill Hotel (6th Street, between Tryon and Church Streets) charge $5 at night. Complimentary pints available for musicians.

The hope is that this session will carry forth the great Malady Celtic Trader tradition of welcoming all players and fans of Celtic music! Mark your calendar for September 1st, 14th, 29th, October 13th, and so on. Sessions will take place 6:30-9:30 PM.

Request For Musicians To Play at Music/ Arts Book Sale Benefiting Libraries

On Saturday, October 16, books about music, dance, drama, and movies will be on sale to benefit the Library System of Mecklenburg County. Sponsored by the Friends of the Library, the sale will take place at The Meadows Club House, 4315 Simsbury Road (off Fairview Road behind the Foxcroft East Shopping Center). If there are single musicians or small groups who would be willing to volunteer to play for an hour between 9 AM and 5 PM, would you please contact Mary Lou Paschal at 704-364-2294 or by e-mail at johnpaschal@bellsouth.net. All Folk Society members are encouraged to attend the sale at which many wonderful books will be available. For more information, visit www.CMLibrary.org.

Try On A Harp! September 11th

Folk Society member Christine Van Arsdale is teaching a one-day, hands-on, introductory class offered on the amazing folk harp. The class takes place on Saturday, September 11, 9 AM to 12 Noon, on the CPCC Central Campus in the Sloan-Morgan Building. Register through Continuing Education at www.cpcc.edu for Course Number AAC-8030-01. Harps are provided!! $40 covers everything!

Beginners' Clogging Classes

Folk Society Board member Cathey Franklin will be teaching clogging to beginners on Mondays from 11:15 AM to 12:15 PM, beginning Monday, September 20th, at Amity Presbyterian Church, 2831 North Sharon Amity Road in Charlotte. The total cost for all six lessons is $25. Although all ages of adults are welcomed, the course is geared towards adults over the age of 45. Shoes with any sort of taps on them would be great, but are not necessary; shoes with a hard bottom would do fine.

Cathey has been clogging for twenty-four years and has been teaching for twenty years. She has danced with a number of teams and has been director of the Carolina Classic Cloggers for the past fifteen years. Please contact her by calling 704-525-3256 or emailing clognut@hotmail.com. (Please note that there are two n's in the email address.) She will give you further information or answer any questions you might have.

The Violin Shoppe Donates 2010 Raffle Instruments

Thanks to the generosity of Glen Alexander and David McGuirt, proprietors of The Violin Shoppe, Inc., Charlotte Folk Society will raise funds through instrument raffles again this year. Glen and David have donated an Ivan Dunov Prelude Model 140 Violin by Eastman Strings and a Kentucky A-Model Mandolin KM-140 by Saga.

The Ivan Dunov Prelude 140 Violin is crafted in Romania of Carpathian tonewoods, with a solid spruce top and maple back, ribs, and scroll. It features ebony pegs, fingerboard, and chin rest, as well as inlaid purfling. The retail value of the violin, bow, and case is $1000.

The Kentucky A-Model Mandolin KM-140 features a solid spruce top and maple back, sides, and neck, with a 12th fret neck joint. The finish is a traditional high-gloss sunburst. Multiple binding on the top, a bound rosewood fretboard, an adjustable truss rod, an adjustable compensated rosewood bridge, nickel-plated hardware, classic Mother of Pearl "Kentucky" script inlay and dot markers, and deluxe tuning machines make this a very desirable instrument. Complete with a gig bag, the Kentucky A-Model Mandolin KM-140 is valued at $300.

Kentucky A-Model Mandolin

The Violin Shoppe is located at 2112 East Seventh Street. Folk Society members receive a ten percent discount. Be sure to take your CFS member card when shopping. For detailed information about instruments, accessories, and services offered, visit www.theviolinshoppe.net. Check out their new line of acoustic and electric instruments by Yamaha, as well as their fine Eastman guitars and mandolins. The Violin Shoppe offers traditional and bluegrass fiddle lessons, as well as classical violin lessons, including the Suzuki Method. Instruction for guitar, banjo, mandolin, Dobro, bass, and bodhran is also available. Award-winning musicians/instructors, Glen Alexander and Jon Singleton, make The Violin Shoppe a destination for traditional and bluegrass students.

The two instruments will be raffled individually. Mandolin raffle tickets cost $2 each or $10 for six tickets. Raffle tickets for the violin cost $5 each or $25 for six tickets.

The instruments will be on display and raffle tickets will be available to purchase at upcoming Gatherings and Festival in the Park. Also, buy tickets online at www.folksociety.org.

Drawings of the winning tickets for both instruments will take place during the Folk Society's Annual Holiday Potluck on Saturday, December 11th, at Dilworth United Methodist Church, 605 East Boulevard, in Charlotte. Ticket holders need not be present to win. For tax compliance reasons, raffle winners must fill out a W-9 form before receiving their awards. Winners are responsible for all resulting income taxes, if any.

Charlotte Appalachian Dulcimer Club

The Charlotte Appalachian Dulcimer Club meets next on Friday, September 10th, at the Great Aunt Stella Center after the CFS Gathering concert, approximately at 8:30 PM. This is a beginner-friendly gathering; so, if you've never played the dulcimer but would like to learn, please join us. Loaner dulcimers will be available for the meeting. For more information, call Mark Willingham at 980-254-8059.

Mary Z. & Bob Cox Concert September 17th

The Charlotte Folk Society and Jennifer Stanton are offering traditional music fans a rare opportunity to hear Mary Z. and Bob Cox perform lively old-time and bluesy folk tunes in an intimate house concert at 7:30 PM on Friday, September 17th. The concert venue is the rustic log cabin home of Nancy Howe, 2107 Mandarin Boulevard, in east Charlotte. Admission is $15. Refreshments will feature fabulous baked goodies from Rita Hartmann's kitchen. Guests are welcome to bring their own beverages. Advance reservations and payment are required. Make reservations and pay online at www.folksociety.org. You may also contact Jennifer Stanton at 704-321-7832 or jenniferstanton@yahoo.com for reservations and mail a check written to "Charlotte Folk Society" to Jennifer Stanton, 311 Kingsley Drive, Charlotte, NC 28270. Space is limited, so make your reservations early. Sample Mary's audio recordings at www.folksociety.org.

Mary Z. and Bob Cox

Mary Z. Cox has played banjo since she was twelve, and is a two-time Florida champion. She has won banjo, dulcimer, singing, and stringband old-time music competitions in Florida, Georgia, Alabama, North Carolina, and Tennessee.

Banjo Newsletter readers chose Mary in 2006 as their fourth favorite clawhammer banjo player in the world. She has recorded six CDs, has written five banjo tab books, and has been published in Banjo Newsletter, Studio Magazine, and the Old Time Herald.

Mary has taught banjo workshops at the Florida Folk Festival, Sunshine State Music Camp, Will McLean Festival, Florida Old Time Music Camp, and Suwannee Banjo Camp. She has also taught banjo workshops at the John C. Campbell Folk School for seven years. Her music has been played on BBC and National Public Radio, The Thistle & Shamrock, and is available on iTunes worldwide.

Mary Z. is also a Florida mountain dulcimer champion, as well as the first-place winner in the 2006 Uncle Dave Macon Days in Tennessee and three-time dulcimer champion at the 2006, 2007, and 2009 Transylvania County (North Carolina) Old-Time Music Competitions.

Mary has taught mountain dulcimer workshops at the Suwannee Dulcimer Retreat, Fall NGFDA Festival at Unicoi, Florida Folk Festival, and the Will McLean Festival. Her new Easy String Band Method for the Mountain Dulcimer book/cd is a new approach for beginners to learn quickly and easily without being overwhelmed.

Mary Z's latest CD, Drumming On the Edge of Banjo, combines the Afro/Caribbean drumming of master drummer, Yazid, with Celtic clawhammer frailing fusion banjo with five-string cello banjo, mountain dulcimer, dulcimette, guitar (Bob Cox), bowed bass (Jim Crozier), and George Clinton on vocals.

Mary Z. and her husband, Bob Cox, a mighty fine guitarist, have entertained audiences coast to coast in concerts, festivals, and camps. To learn more about Mary Z. Cox, visit www.maryzcox.com.

Mary Z. Cox Workshops September 18th

Two workshops with Mary Z. Cox will be offered on Saturday, September 18th, at The Violin Shoppe, 2112 East Seventh Street, in Charlotte. Descriptions follow below. Wade Mainer Tribute & Book Release September 21st

Old-time music fans, this is an evening you don't want to miss! Music scholar and Washington radio personality Dick Spottswood is coming to Chapel Hill on Tuesday, September 21st, to talk about his new book, Banjo on the Mountain – Wade Mainer's First Hundred Years, which tells the story of the man who made a career in country music playing the banjo a few years before Bill Monroe's first record became a hit. The event takes place 5-7:30 PM in the Pleasants Room, Wilson Library, 200 South Road, in Chapel Hill.

A musical tribute to Wade Mainer will feature Big Medicine (Jim Collier, Bob Head, Kenny Jackson, Joe Newberry); The Happy Valley Pals (Gail Gillespie and Margaret Martin, Dwight Rogers and Wayne Martin); The Lonesome Prairie Dogs (Steve Terrill, Molly Stouten, and Alan Teichman); Andy Cahan; and Joseph DeCosimo; along with other area musicians. The event will also include a reception, discussion and a Q&A session with Spottswood.

Born in North Carolina in 1907, Wade Mainer performed professionally beginning in 1932. He began performing with Mainer's Mountaineers, his brother's band, and later continued with his own group, The Sons of the Mountaineers. His heyday was during the popularity of “hillbilly music” in the 1930s and 1940s. Between 1935 and 1941, various Mainer brother combinations recorded more than 165 songs for RCA Victor, making them some of the most heavily recorded country artists of that era. But Wade left music to work for General Motors in 1953, along with many Appalachians of his generation. Since then, he has recorded a few gospel albums, and, during the 1970s, with the renewal of interest in old-time music, and with some persuasion from fans who were familiar with his early recordings, Wade began to perform in public again, accompanied by his wife, Julia Mae, a guitarist and a fine traditional singer.

Wade's music has always been noted for its traditional repertoire and for his distinctive me-lodio two-finger banjo picking style, which was a personal trademark. This style became the basis for the three-finger banjo styles developed by Snuffy Jenkins and Earl Scruggs. His music is an antecedent of modern bluegrass. In 1987, Wade was named a National Heritage Fellow by the National Endowment of the Arts.

In Spottswood's book, Wade's life is told through his personal reflections, and the wealth of documents, memorabilia, and photos he has preserved from his long career in music. Spottswood spent time with Wade and Julia in Michigan, where they opened their collection of treasured keepsakes for the book.

Banjo on The Mountain was released in August by the University Press of Mississippi.

2010-2011 Gathering Season

We're very excited about the concert lineup for our new Gathering season – both for the variety of music represented and the quality of musicianship these performers bring to the Great Aunt Stella Center stage. Please let us know, as the season progresses, if you agree.

All events are open to the public. Most take place on second Fridays at the Great Aunt Stella Center (GASC), 926 Elizabeth Avenue, with exceptions noted. The front doors to the GASC open at 7 PM; concerts begin at 7:30 PM and last one hour. Refreshments, jams, song circle, and Appalachian Dulcimer Club follow. Gatherings are free and open to the public; donations are appreciated. Free parking.

October 8: Bluegrass Meets Mariachi brings together hot bluegrass players Glen Alexander (fiddle), Jack Lawrence (guitar), Randy DeBruhl (banjo) & David Grant (upright bass & vocals) to share and swap tunes with Mariachi Los Gavilanes.

November 12: 82-year-old North Wilkesboro native Clyde "Pop" Ferguson, Sr. performs early Appalachian and Piedmont style blues, as well as urban blues, on acoustic & electric guitars. www.popsfergusonblues.com

December 11: CFS Holiday Jam & Potluck features a short performance of Medieval & Renaissance music by The Charlotte Waites on period instruments. Tentatively taking place at Dilworth United Methodist Church, 605 East Blvd., Charlotte. 4 - 9:45 PM. Bring a dish to share or donate $5/person towards expenses. www.facebook.com/pages/The-Charlotte-Waites/134362966640

January 14: Bluegrass, gospel & more by The Snyder Family Band, featuring Zeb and Samantha. Zeb, now 15, took 1st place in the adult guitar competition at Mt. Airy in 2009. In 2008, Samantha, now 11, became the youngest ever to win the title of "Fiddler of the Festival" at Union Grove. www.snyderfamilyband.com

April 8: Proclaimed a "Celtic guitar god" by the Baltimore City Paper, multi-instrumentalist Robin Bullock, is praised by Dirty Linen for "a rare combination of technical virtuosity and emotional nuance." www.robinbullock.com

May 13: Trent Wagler & The Steel Wheels are truly an Americana band, rooted in musical styles that explore the territories between blues and bluegrass, old-time sing-alongs, and foot-stompin' fiddle tunes - subtle innovators who respect the past but whistle their own tunes, layering in rich textures and decidedly modern energy to forge a new sound. This Shenandoah Valley band is a musical force to be reckoned with! www.thesteelwheels.com

June 10: The WBT Briarhoppers first hit the airwaves in 1934. Early country music superstars, they received 10,000 fan letters each week. Today, Dwight Moody, Tom Warlick, Alana Flowers, and Trent Moody carry on the Briarhopper tradition, making the band the longest performing group of country and bluegrass musicians still active today. <http://wbtbriarhoppers.blogspot.com>

This project is made possible, in part, with funding from the Arts & Science Council and the North Carolina Arts Council, an agency of the Department of Cultural Resources, and the National Endowment for the Arts, which believes that a great nation deserves great art.

4th Annual Hoppin' John Old-Time & Bluegrass Fiddlers Convention: September 17-18, 2010

By Chris Sekerak

Many bluegrass and old-time traditional music festival-goers recall that the best days of such current favorites as Galax and Clifftop and others have already passed. Sadly, this is what often happens to the very best venues. Their popularity eventually leads to a either a leveling off or a decline from their incredible heyday. That is not to say that these aren't still darn good musical experiences. The talent per square foot is often mind-boggling. I still attend them, religiously. But, I want to remind the Charlotte traditional music community that a relatively new camping and music experience is available within a short drive from Charlotte. A Fiddlers Grove-like festival still in its infancy is the 4th Annual Hoppin' John Festival Old-Time and Bluegrass Fiddler's Convention, September 17-19, 2010, at beautiful Shakori Hills, in Silk Hope, North Carolina.

A Diamond in the Rough

The shortened days of Indian Summer bring a different outdoor camping experience: cooler nights, red-hued sunsets, cicadas, and persimmon trees with ripened fruit. In the rolling rural farmland of Chatham County (near Chapel Hill and Pittsboro), there is the crossroads town of Silk Hope. Here, along a very rural road, is the Shakori Hills farm. With its spacious (72 acres) wooded and open field camping sites, old barns, a stage, and friendly folk to welcome, you feel like a special guest. These are the early years of what will one day be a very popular festival. It is a wonderful camping and picking experience. The music and the musicianship are both very good. There is $3550 in prize money and a Michael Ramsey¹ banjo to be given away, based on a random drawing of all who participate in the banjo contest. Also, the first place banjo winner receives a Ramsey banjo. So, yes, there are two of these highly sought-after, hand-crafted banjos given away. The stage is well managed. Good coffee is always available at the Java Barn and the food vendors provide enjoyable fare at reasonable cost. The nightly dances feature excellent callers and bands in an open air dance pavilion. It was fun last year to get to know the many good musicians who are from the Raleigh, Durham, Chapel Hill Triad. I enjoyed the nighttime bonfires and informal jamming the most. Thinking of coming up to Silk

Hope? Camping begins on September 15th at a cost of $10 per night. There are plenty of well maintained port-a-lets and drinking water is provided throughout campgrounds. Check out their website for details: www.HoppinJohn.org.

¹Note: For those not familiar with the exceptional craftsmanship and playability inherent in a locally made Ramsey banjo, Ramsey instruments will be on display at the ZEPP Country (Wendell, North Carolina) Music Tent left of the stage. Stop by and Manager Marc

Miller will be happy to let you hold and play one. (<http://zeppmusic.com>)

Hoppin' John: The Dish

The festival is named after a traditional southern dish. Hoppin' John is a savory mixture of black-eyed peas, rice, seasonings, vegetables, and meat, usually smoked pork. Hoppin' John is traditionally served in the South on New Year's Day to guarantee good luck in the coming year.

One of our own CFS families, the Lee Ann and Michael Plumley Family, who reside in Tega Cay, South Carolina are cooks. Michael has a long history of competing in chili cook-offs. He has won numerous cook-offs and has qualified and competed at the World's Chili Cook-off on three occasions.

Both Michael and Lee Ann donned aprons and took their posts for the Hoppin' John Cook-Off last year. This was Michael's second year participating in the HJ Cook-Off. He placed third in 2008. The Plumleys have had live stringband music at their booths for the last two years. Daughter Brittany (13 years old) is an up-and-coming fiddle player and clog dancer, as well. Michael believes that live old-time music not only entertains the other cooks and crowd, but adds that special ingredient that permeates this soulful southern dish. (I think he is right).

Many observers reported that both

Plumley entries far surpassed the others in terms of flavor and creativity. But when the dust had settled and the final tallies were reported, Michael had just barely nosed out Lee Ann and others for the coveted Golden Skillet and cash prize.

The Golden Skillet (see photo) now dons the wall of Michael's home office, just to the left of his 1916 Gibson A-model mandolin, and Lee Ann's Ramsey banjo. The Plumleys plan to return this year to Hoppin' John to defend the title. Competition will be fierce, as the locals want the 2010 title to rest in North Carolina and not in South Carolina with a guy whose roots are in West Virginia!

If you are making the trip to Silk Hope, for this year's cook-off and traditional music fest, you will be in for a real treat. Come hungry, my friends, and stop by the Plumley booth and say, "Howdy!" Mmmm – the Hoppin' John alone would be worth the trip!

Michael Plumely's Award-Winning Hoppin' John Recipe

Note from Michael: I have not included quantities, as I never cook the same amount. Cook to your own taste. The end product should be thick and somewhat spicy.

Ingredients

Black-eyed peas (soaked overnight).
White Rice
Water
Yellow Onions
Green Pepper
Jalapeno Peppers (cut off tops and float in pot)
Seasonings: Black Pepper, Salt, Garlic, Cajun or Creole Seasoning
Smoked Meat (Your choice; I used smoked turkey legs last year. I have also used smoked sausages, country ham, and bacon.)

Procedure

1. Sauté onions and green peppers in skillet and add to pot.
2. Sauté selected meat in skillet and add to pot.
3. Add water and soaked peas.
4. Add seasonings to pot and float Jalapenos peppers.
5. Simmer low until peas are soft.
6. Leave plenty of liquid in the pot before adding the rice. The rice will thicken the mixture.

Welcome, New And Renewing Members!

Great Aunt Stella Center Lost & Found

If you've lost an item while attending a concert at the Great Aunt Stella Center, please contact Mark Ponischil, the Facility Manager. Call him at 704-944-6014 and leave a message. His earliest opportunity to look into your inquiry will be the Tuesday following our Gathering. Please do not simply come to the Stella Center to ask about lost objects, as there is no one else in the building who would be aware of what has been found and Mark is not on site daily. He will arrange with you a time to come and pick up your found items.
